GLOBAL SUSTAINABLE Tourism Conference 2017

Chile - Aysen - Coyhaique
6 - 9 September
From the Far North and the Altiplano to the Far South of Chile, someone is always waiting to receive you with open arms.

Chile has many different adventures to offer tourists: stargazing in the driest desert in the world, millennial glaciers in the southernmost part of the planet, enchanted forests, and lakes located at the foot of massive volcanoes. It has islands full of legends, winemaking traditions, great challenges to be overcome, and the modern and accessible city of Santiago.

But, there is something about Chile that has not yet been said. Chile has wide-open natural landscapes, but you can also find this openness in the Chilean people. The feeling of being alive floods over you in these wide-open spaces in Chile. Here you can get in touch with nature or set out to explore pristine areas. The people of Chile will also pleasantly surprise you with their kindness and hospitality. This will be a completely new experience in a place where you will feel at peace.
Aysen Patagonia is a rich territory in nature and adventure in the south of Chile, with a wide diversity of landscapes and climates, which goes from the steppe of the Patagonian pampas up to the evergreen and Andean Patagonian forests, passing through lakes, rivers, fjords and thousand-year-old ices.

To know this region you have to go all over the Carretera Austral, the Scenic Route of the Patagonia. More than 800 km invite you to discover the unexplored and unique of its nature, people and cultural patrimony. All the previous attributes are precisely the ones which allows the Aysen Region to make tourism one of the main priorities of the economic, social and cultural development.

Today there is a conviction from the tourism industry, that the Region and the city of Coyhaique, have different elements helping in taking the seasonality out of the touristic offer. Therefore, there has been greater strides to improve hotel infrastructure, training the human resource and keeping up-to-date the technological resources. All of these, have the purpose to generate a successful experience for the visitors and Aysen Patagonia that already is a destination for business meetings.

The people of Coyhaique welcome to all the visitors with their incomparable warmness which is a characteristic of southern people, proud of their origins, customs and landscapes.

Today we invite you to keep discovering the Aysen Region... an adventure and nature destination...

Welcome to Aysen Patagonia...
The city of Coyhaique has some iconic places to visit. In the Square of the Pioneer, you will find the Shepherd Monument, the Pioneers Monument, the Tehuelche Family among other sculptures. On the way to the West, you will find a rock called “Piedra del Indio” (Indian’s Stone) in the wooden hanging bridge over the Simpson River. For visiting these sites, you can buy a city tour or you can walk slowly in a 3 hours tour.

Just a 4 km north from Coyhaique, you will find the National Reserve Coyhaique. Here is possible to do some hiking in a couple of hours or half a day and for the sportier there is a trail that goes to the top of Cinchao Hill.

Another place to visit, about 30 km from Coyhaique, is the National Reserve Rio Simpson. Here is possible to enjoy of the evergreen forest. To get to the reserve there are buses with departures every 45 min from our regional capital or you can drive with a rented car since the route is completely paved. In the reserve, there are soft trails to walk around and enjoy the environment. We recommend to do the Fisherman’s Trail (sendero del pescador) and visit a waterfall called Cascada De la Virgen.

Just one hour away from Coyhaique, you will find the city of Puerto Aysen. To get to this city here are buses with departures every 45 min from the regional capital. When visiting, we recommend you to do the route of the bridges: starting with the Presidente Ibañez Bridge, following the one in Aguas Muertas stream and ending with Los Palos Bridge. Another attraction is Acantilada Bay, which is only 10 min from Puerto Aysen.

BARRIOS COMERCIALES
(Commercial districts)

Commercial district is a comprehensive initiative of the Government of Chile, pioneer in the country, aiming to energize the commercial management and improve the urban environment. The district is located in the central and historically traditional space, where the commerce, civic center, financial and touristic services come together in the city of Coyhaique. There is a major presence of small retailer store, gastronomical establishment and national and regional retail.

Know your district

The commercial district has been developed in parallel with the foundation and expansion of the city, which is located between the confluence of Simpson and Coyhaique rivers and also the intersection of the roads which joins Puerto Aysen, Coyhaique Alto and Balmaceda. The commerce extends from the founding square, forming the commercial district along the axis formed by Condell Street, Plaza de Armas, Horn Boulevard and Prat Street, projecting from here to its surroundings.

More than 28 stores: souvenirs, gourmet products, for distraction in the city

Remember that it is still winter in September, which is why, it is recommended to dress in layers to not get overdressed. A thermal shirt, dry-fit or undershirt with a polar fleece jacket, sweater or similar and finally an insulated jacket water repellent (not necessarily a bulky one). Likewise, it is recommended wearing gloves and a scarf or multifunctional headwear.

Although, there is less sunlight in winter, in this territory it is important to be careful with the UVA and UVB rays, because in this zone, the ozone layer has a lower density. Thus, do not forget use sunscreen and sunglasses for protection.

TO PRESERVE NATURE

1.- If you go fishing, make sure you have all the licenses and comply with the rules regulating this activity.

3.- Wherever you are take care of wildlife.

5.- Use paper or ecological bags. Plastic is not biodegradable.

7.- Prefer ecofriendly products.

2.- Remember water is a scarce asset, take care of it and do not pollute it.

4.- Remember to clean properly the place where you stayed when leaving; do not leave any waste.

6.- Bury biodegradable garbage, leftovers, paper to a depth of 50 cm or more from ground land.

8.- Remember when you throw a battery you are contaminating at least a square meter around.

Surroundings of Coyhaique

City Tour Coyhaique
200 m a 10 km

Consist of visiting attractions in the city and some very near. The places to visit are: Maté Monument, Indian's Stone, The Shepherd, Plaza de Armas, Artisans Fair Craft (next to the square) and the Luis Marchant Viewpoint. Depending of the agency hired for the city tour, it can include other attractions as the National Reserve Coyhaique and part of the National Reserve Rio Simpson (on the way to Puerto Aysén). This tour last about 3 to 5 hours in a vehicle. These places are excellent for taking pictures since they are icons of Coyhaique.

Indian's Stone
1.7 km

It is at the riverbank of Simpson river bordering Coyhaique. This odd rock got the profile of a human face, carved by the wind, water and ice erosion. The best place to appreciate this majestic rock is from the hanging bridge crossing the river. This rock is only just 1.7 km away from the main square (plaza de armas). Between the intersection of Simpson street and the route 7 (Carretera Austral) there is a sign with the name of the same attraction, then there is a way further down through a tourist road.

Six Lagoons Circuit
21 km

Six small lagoons make a circuit of great beauty located between Atravesado and Elizalde lakes and Valle Simpson. The beginning is about 21 km from Coyhaique. Usually, the circuit is about 70 km round trip and it could change depending the route chosen. It last about 3 or 4 hours.

Elizalde Lake
33 km

This lake is of glacial origin, it has an extension of 35 km and it is surrounded by mountains. This lake is ideal for fishing, boat rides, horseback riding, trekking and taking pictures. Also, it has some facilities for camping and picnic.

Simpson River
2 kms. 15 kms. 32 km

Located in a terrain of uneven geography and extraordinary flora and fauna. In its 88 km of extension, you can see its native and exotic vegetation such as nothofagus antarctica (fierre) and nothofagus pumilio (lenge), for then be surrounded by a transitional forest. This forest is main protagonist in the different relief such as pampas, mountain range and sea, going through Coyhaique to Puerto Aysen. It has different access points from Coyhaique to the route that leads to Puerto Aysen.

Coyhaique National Reserve
5 km

It was created in 1948, is one of the oldest reserves in the region with a surface of 2.510 ha. Its surroundings are characterized for having gentle hills and big mountains like Cinchao hill of 1.361 m. From a certain spot, you will see the whole extension of the city of Coyhaique and the hills McKay and Divisadero. There are some lagoons of small size; the biggest is Los Mallines lagoon of 4.5 ha. Following is the Verde lagoon and Los Sapos lagoon. The native vegetation is present in a mixture of nothofagus domby (coigue) and nothofagus pumilio (lenge), which is the predominant vegetation in the deciduous forest of Aysen. It has some places for picnic but not for camping, building a campfire is prohibited.

Marchant Viewpoint
10 km

It is located about 10 km north from Coyhaique on the way to Puerto Aysen. From this viewpoint, it is possible to see the regional capital entirely and the Divisadero mountain range behind the city. It is a great panoramic view to get a picture.

Velo de la Novia Waterfall
27 km

Located in the km 27 on the way to Puerto Aysen, you will find this waterfall of 30 m high. Its name comes from the resemblance to the veil of a bride, and sometimes during winter it is possible to see it freeze.

Virgin’s Waterfall
35 km

Its name comes from the sanctuary of the Virgin of Lourdes which is located there. The waterfall comes from the high summits of the zone, produce by melting and rains. It is a good spot to take a picture. The waterfall ins part of the Rio Simpson National Reserve.

Rio Simpson National Reserve
32 km

This reserve is characterized by an abrupt and uneven geography with small valleys and mountains above 1.600 m. It has vegetation composed of primarily forest of nothofagus domby (coigue), laureliopsis philippina (tep), podocarpus nobigenus (matio), embothrium coccineum (cireuilillo), drimys winteri (canelo) and teupala stipularis (tep). Also, you will find the fuchsia magallanica (chilco) which is the most common shrub of the zone. Other species are pudu (the world’s smallest deer), Andean condor and the torrent duck. There is a camping site in San Sebastian zone, an interpretation center in the Cascada de la Virgen waterfall zone and an Environmental education center. The Cero Huemules protected area in the Ceno river zone is also part of this Reserve.

Dos Lagunas Natural Monument
22 km

It is a zone of 181 ha in a place of transition between a deciduous forest of Aysen and the Patagonian steppe. Here you will see two lagoons called El Toro and Escondida, which why the name of this monument comes from. The place has a small beach and nice sites for camping or having a picnic.

El Fraile Ski Center
29 km

It is the only Ski center of the region, it has an altitude of 1.500 meters above sea level. It has 5 ski fields surrounded by pine trees, nothofagus pumilio (lenge) and nothofagus antarctica (fierre). The surface for skiing is 550 ha. This means that more than 600 people can practice in the fields at the same time. From some places is possible to see the lakes: Frio, Pollux and Castor.

Frio Lake
24 km

A small lake of a 3.75 km² of extension. It has an abundant native and exotic (pine trees) forest. Its surrounding is characterized by the transitional landscapes from mountains to pampas.

Pollux Lake
31 km

It is the most important lake in the lacustrine system composed by Castor and Frio lakes, it is important due to the recreational fishing with a presence of salmonid species and its proximity to Coyhaique. This means that it has a high demand for this activity. It has a surface of 6.8 km².

Castor Lake
35 km

Small lake of 4.95 km² approx. It is very close to the frontier with Argentina. It is part of a small lacustrine system composed by Pollux and Frio lakes and they are part of Aysen river basin. This lake is part of a well-known circuit of recreational fishing of Coyhaique. Its surrounding is characterized by the transitional landscapes from mountains to pampas, which is occupied mainly by nothofagus antarctica (fierre) and bushes and shrubs.

Chinese Wall
15 km

An alternative ideal for climbers, located just 15 km south from Coyhaique on the way to Balmaceda, just before the crossing to the ski center El Fraile. It has at least 12 routes with unique adhesion (most of them equipped by Pere Villaseca, a renown alpinist). The rock is of excellent quality even though these routes are not very climbed there is still a chance that a slab rock could fall. It is mandatory the wearing a helmet and it is recommended a rope of 70 m. General recommendations for these excursions are: high length shoes, proper clothing, gloves and hat.

Valle de la Luna
68 km Ripio

The name means “valley of the moon” and it is located in the town of Ñirehua. This valley has peculiar rock formations with a projection until the horizon, giving you the idea of not being in the earth anymore. It has an extension of 30.000 ha of festuca graciliflora (conon). In the middle of this valley, you will find the Ñirehua river, an ideal place for fishing since there is a big presence of brown trout.

Puerto Aysén

Atractivos Alrededor de Puerto Aysén

Plano turístico Aysén ¡Siente Aysén!
1. Presidente Ibáñez Bridge

It is the longest hanging bridge of Chile. The building works started in 1961 as a solution to the river sedimentation which forced to move the port to Chacabuco. Its construction took 5 years. It is said that the place was choose purely as a fair solution for the two existing communities.

2. Land and Colonization Office

It is located next to BancoEstado, declared National Historical Monument in 2009. The Land and Colonization Office worked almost 50 years with the task to allocated lands so the pioneers could develop their productive activities and settle in the region. It is considered a testimonial of the material record of the settlement process in Aysen. Currently the Police Station (carabineros) of Puerto Aysen is working in this property.

3. The Rapids

The rapids zone is located 5.6 km passing the Presidente Ibáñez Bridge on the way to south riverbank of the city, turning left at the first crossing after the Aysen bridge. Here is possible to observe rushing waters of the Aysen river; the rapids zone is located 5.6 km passing the Presidente Ibañez Bridge on the settlement process in Aysen. Currently the Police Station (carabineros) of Puerto Aysen is working in this property.

4. Cordon Hill

It is a patrimony of Puerto Aysen and the region, from 23th of February of 2014 (download the map at www.turismo.puertoaysen.cl). This trekking has a trail of 6 km long with 1360 meters above sea level. Come to see the dense Patagonian forest, 6 times denser than Amazonas, the main attraction of Cordon Hill is that from the summit it is possible to have a panoramic view of all the other summits, the Aysen valley and fjord. (Recommended date for ascension: January, since there is a collective ascension because of the Anniversary of Puerto Aysen)

5. Laguna San Rafael

The National Park Laguna San Rafael is located 217 km from Puerto Chacabuco by sea (4 hours trip). It has a surface of 1.742.000 ha. The glacier has a wall of almost 2 km wide and start at 15 km in the Monte San Valentín (4.058 meters above sea level, the highest mountain of the Patagonia). The lagoon has a surface of 123 km², it was declared World Biosphere Reserve by UNESCO in 1979 and it is rich in flora and fauna.

6. Los Palos Bridge

A hanging bridge of attractive design which connects the city with Acmatlalac bay and Los Palos lagoon. It is just 2 km from the square of Puerto Aysen, to access you have to follow the way to Aguas Muetras zone. From that place is possible to see artesional boats.

7. Bahía Acantilada

The access to this zone is after crossing the bridge over Los Palos river turning left at the crossing of the road. It is a gravel road which goes bordering the west side of Marchant hill, some parts of the road are an exact replica of the Carretera Austral. You will see cliffs, waterfalls, forests, flora and fauna to finally arrive to a beach of 500 m wide. In this beach, you will enjoy the calm, warm and shallow waters of this bay which is surrounded by glaciated mountains. The beach has free access and tourist infrastructure for its visitors.

8. Los Palos Lagoon

To have Access you cross a beautiful wooden hanging bridge over Los Palos river. It is located about 10 km from Puerto Aysen. It is possible to practice fishing from November to April (species found: brown trout), also you can do kayaking in this river characterized by its little wave. This route is like known the Carretera Austral in a few minutes.

9. Riesco Lake

Located about 23 km crossing the Presidente Ibáñez bridge (also known as Aysen bridge by locals) on the way to the south riverbank, turning left at the first crossing. It is possible to practice some aquaculture and recreational fishing, the best months for fishing are from November to April (species found: brown trout). You will see Chilean myrtle and some sand.

10. Blanco River Cable Ferry

How to get there?

The cable ferry is a smart system to cross to the other shore only powered by water flow. This crossing does not have a cost and it works on Monday to Sunday and Holidays, from 08:30 am to 17:30 pm. (during the summer extends until 19:30). Discover how it was to cross the Aysen river when the bridge did not exist, then go to see the cable ferry of the Blanaco river. This road drives to the less visited, but no less beautiful Portales lake.

11. El Leon and Pata piedra Waterfalls

How to get there?

It is located at 18 km from Puerto Aysen going through the road Aysen-Coyhaique (R-240) in the km 8 on the way to Pangua Alto. In the road, you will see the city of Puerto Aysen. You will find a beautiful and with an important water flow waterfall called El Leon. It is called like that since in that spot usually goes down the lion (Puma concolor) looking for food, (We recommend to take the interior route of pangua at your return to see the hanging bridges!)

12. Portales Lake

How to get there?

This lake is 23 km away from the square of Puerto Aysen crossing the Blanco river cable ferry, a less visited spot. At this moment, there are works on the roads so it could join the route until Coyhaique. It is necessary to have in mind the timetables of Blanco river cable ferry to visit this lake, an ideal place for recreational fishing.

13. Puerto Dun & Dun Bridge

How to get there?

It is just 5 km away from the city bordering the Aysen river and it has access through both riverbank to the place called Puerto Dun. This place was named like that in honor to John Dun who was the first administrator of the Sociedad Industrial de Aysen (SIA – Aysen Industrial Society). This was the first port of Aysen and later was build downriver. Currently, there is a bridge connecting both riverbanks. This place is also known for recreational fishing.

14. Valle Condor

How to get there?

This place is about 29 km approx. from the square of Puerto Aysen, next to Portales lake is one of the less visited places but more pristine. To get here you have to take the cross at the right, then pass the entrance of Riesco lake, you will see Baja and Alta lagoons with a view to Condor hill and valley of the same name. This place is perfect for lovers of winter mountaineering, Recommendation: Unmarked trail, for your safety it is necessary to go with a guide or someone who knows the route.

LEAVE NO TRACE

Principle 1: Plan Ahead and Prepare. Know the regulations and special concerns for the area you’ll visit such as weather, prices, daylight, water, camping sites, hantavirus, toilets, maps and the right equipment.

Principle 2: Travel and Camp on Durable Surfaces. Altering a site is not necessary, remember good campsites are found, not made. If you don’t find one prefer a surface with mineral soil (sand, earth)

Principle 3: Dispose of waste properly. Deposit solid human waste in catholes dug 6 to 8 inches deep, at least 200 feet from water, camp trails. Cover and disguise the cathole when finished. Pack out toilet paper and hygiene products, carry alcohol-based gel hand disinfectant.

Principle 4: Leave What You Find. Natural objects of beauty or interest such as antlers, petrified wood, or colored rocks add to the mood of the backcountry and should be left so others can experience a sense of discovery. Take a picture or sketch the flower instead of picking it.

Principle 5: Minimize Campfire Impacts. Keep fires small. Bring firewood from home or even better use a cooking gas. If you decide to build a campfire, you should have a water recipient for safety and avoid fire.

Principle 6: Respect Wildlife. Recreation in nature can cause different impacts in the wildlife. Never feed animals. Feeding wildlife damages their health, alters natural behaviors, and exposes them to predators and other dangers.

Principle 7: Be considerate of other visitors. People visit wild places to enjoy its natural state, sounds, landscapes and wildlife. Respect other visitors.
